- Developing of the game Cryptomania - Gold II - is a combination of a block simulator "system", plus a track with racing automata. The main task of the algorithm is to calculate the addition or subtraction of blocks and the output of the blocks results. Already in the game there are dynamic variables - the size of the field, the size of the blocks and the difficulty of the algorithm. The difficulty is represented by a number in a range from 1 - 5 (for 5 digit. Of course, the field can be extended with the addition of more blocks. The central part of the game is the automata, which is made up of a track (on which the race is conducted) and the blocks (in which the automata moves). During the match the automaton receives a sum of money with a random number of digits and must move to the end of the track and catch up to the specified sum. A wide variety of races - from 1×3 up to 1×5 includes different modes: time, speed, mode and distance. With the exception of the distance, which must always be set to 5, the automata can be set to a range of randomly chosen values from 0 to 100 and can also be programmed in advance. The automata is driven by the players and can move over the track in all directions, as well as turn left or right, uphill or downhill. When the program moves, the automata can consume a block of money, which is then dealt with in a special algorithm. You can also use your own blocks and coins, and after each transaction the player has the opportunity to move the automata to a specific pile. The assignment of the piles is changing in each run. If you find this system exciting and if you have any ideas about a different algorithm or a more profitable game, do not hesitate to contact us. The possibilities of the game are infinite, you can create your own races in the game, for example. Cryptomania - Gold II is a sequel of the game that was published in the autumn of 2016. In the game there are more events, more automata and more coins. You have to try and put aside a few hours to play and test the new version. Requirements: It is recommended to have 2Gb of RAM and 1 video card with at least 2GB of RAM. While Cryptomania - Gold II - can be played in Windows 10

Changelog :

Version 2.0 : Initial release. This is just my view, so please do take it with a grain of salt, and feel free to post your own comments and thoughts. Reality Reality is not what you think it is, and what it really is can't be measured by the primitive human senses, so how can you know your true reality? You can't see it, you can't touch it, you can't hear it or smell it, and you can't taste it. Reality is what happens when you connect with your true nature. It is difficult to even tell what that nature is, but when you do get in touch with that aspect of yourself, you become the observer of your inner world, the one-ness, the harmonization of all things. I believe that we have to take a leap of faith, and do not seek out, or confirm what we are seeing. In order to do that, it is crucial to make the connection between the physical body and the spiritual body, and that is done by realizing that we are the spirit that moves through the ethers, so to speak. When we become conscious, that is the space that we are in, the space between all things. This is the chance for enlightenment, for becoming free from our physical existence into oneness, the Great Spirit. Divine Nature

MirrorMoon is the debut EP by American electronic music producer and DJ Skrillex. It was released on August 30, 2007, by Fool's Gold. The album was released on LP and CD formats. A released of the first single off the EP, "Scary Monsters and Nice Sprites", was a chart-topping hit in the United States, Canada, and internationally. The EP was a commercial success, peaking at number two on the US Billboard 200 and at number one in the UK. The EP has sold over 150,000 copies worldwide. Background and production Skrillex produced the song "Scary Monsters and Nice Sprites" prior to "Breaker" while working at Interscope Records. In an interview with Las Vegas Weekly, Skrillex confessed to producing the song: "Yeah, it's from Swallow The Sun. It was a demo. I played it for [producer] Mr. [Puddles Pity Party] who liked it and then I sent it over to the label. I really didn't like releasing anything for them without hearing it once." While recording for the EP, Skrillex recorded at The Rascals Trap House in Los Angeles, California. Composition and lyrical content "Scary Monsters and Nice Sprites" and its title track are a combination of synth-pop music with elements of electro and rock music. Alex Needham describes the influences behind the song's melody and instrumentation. Skrillex wrote the lyrics and arranged the song. As Skrillex was recording the song, it was described by Needham as a "tricky progression with lots of various sounds flowing through throughout. It really has to be heard to be understood. But the best description I've heard for this song is that it's a throwback to the golden age of 80s synth pop. It takes the old school, poppy sounds and builds them into something really spectacular." "Innerswim" is characterized by heavy snare drum music and hard rock instrumentation. Skrillex wrote the arrangement and plays numerous instruments himself, including the electric guitar, synthesizers, piano, organ, and vocals. Needham describes the song as "Skrillex and [Backyard] Brats [creating] a house nightmare in which they struggle to stay one step ahead of the bedroom invaders." Dave-O received credit for "awesome drumming", and Chris Chaney credited him and his drumming on the song

Welcome to Blackwater Creek… You've been hired by an archaeological professor to come to the small town of Cade's Rest, located in the foothills of the Ozark mountains, to do some research on the history of the area. He's been missing for a few days, and the surrounding state park is very quiet. When the three or four of you arrive, you're all shaken up by the nocturnal arrival of an uneasy, calm air. When you finally sleep, the town and all of its residents are constantly chasing you, shaking your sleep, inviting you to join them on a night hunt. After opening the doors of the state park and finding all sorts of creatures lurking within, you discover that the man hasn't just gone missing; he's been set upon and drained of blood. You leave the still body at a nearby bar and make off towards the main part of town. When you look for a campsite at the fire station, it looks like a good place to hole up for a while. However, you find the remains of a corpse underneath your tent and you come face to face with one of the beastmen. They're more human than monster and are perfectly willing to talk to you about why they don't live in Cade's Rest any more. But one thing leads to another, and before long you find yourself hunting these creatures as well as their brethren with some up-timers who seem to have a grudge against the beasts. In an old bus lot, you stumble across a hidden room in the back of one of the disused vehicles, and inside, you find some cultists who aren't willing to let go of the gold they once hid. More literally, they're trying to find the gold they hid and are willing to go to any length to do so. They're definitely cultists. Your employer is missing a giant artifact. You come across a very ordinary looking tool, but using the elemental magic of the tool, you discover it's a danger to you and anyone else not wearing a proper eye protection suit. And who knows what that eye protection suit can do? You run across the remains of a local bootlegger who was giving up his operation for the advancement of the cultists. They're pushing him out of business and have now taken his operations in Cade's Rest. The real surprise
